

Alumni Association

The Alumni Association of Raniganj Girls' College was formed in 2004 under the name "Bandita". Later the association was registered as "Raniganj Girls' College Alumni Association" under the West Bengal Societies Registration Act, 1961 on 23rd day of December, Two thousand and Twenty. The association serves the dual purpose of keeping a track of the passed out students as well as maintaining a strong bond with them. Formal and regular interactions with the ex-students help the college authorities figure out the effectiveness of the teaching imparted and consider the necessity and means of introducing the newer students to different career-oriented programmes. The members of the alumni are not only informed of the different activities and programmes of the college but formally invited too, to attend them. The students, on their part, inform the college of any of their feats and success which the teachers proudly bring to the notice of the current students, thereby paving the way for many more future achievements. Another important role played by the alumnae is their spontaneous participation in the charitable works. They are equally generous in extending aid and support to the college – be it in providing monetary help to financially unstable students or donating essential items to the college, a sanitizing machine during the COVID 19 pandemic being one of them. Thus, the alumni association of Raniganj Girls' College has been an integral part in its overall development.
